

Spiritual Life...

Zavitz

Spiritual
... Life

Personal Thoughts

by

Charles A. Zavitz

B. S. A., D. Sc.

Ilderton, Ontario

Printed by

A. Talbot & Company

London, Canada

1932

Spiritual Life

Personal Thoughts

by Charles A. Xavier

O cooperate with the Divine Spirit completely is the supreme achievement of man.

LOVE is the great cementing force of the human family. It was the predominating characteristic of Jesus Christ. He taught that God is a Loving Father and said to mankind "Love one another."

WHEN people are in tune constantly with the Infinite God they can use to the best possible advantage all of their physical, mental and spiritual powers.

THE real value of the human soul under the guidance of the Divine Spirit is much greater to the individual than that of all the other things in the world combined.

HERE the members of Religious gatherings are truly baptized with the indwelling Christ, they have opportunities for accumulated Spiritual energy the beneficial results of which may be far reaching both to themselves and to others.

VEN highly organized and fully programmed church services are of but little avail unless the individual members are vitally influenced by the Divine Spirit within themselves. "God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship in spirit and in truth."

WHY do so many professing Christians deprive themselves of so much Spiritual Power by adhering to so many non-essentials which divide into so many individual churches and sects which cause so much confusion and competition and sometimes strife and even bitterness? Jesus said "Behold, the kingdom of God is within you."

UMAN bodies are the holy temples of the Loving God and should not be destroyed by murder, war, capital punishment or lynch-law. Moses said to the people through the Sixth Commandment of the Decalogue "Thou shalt not kill" and Jesus through the Sermon on the mount "Love your enemies."

HAT a different world this would be if even those of us who profess to be Christians would follow in our daily lives that practical example which an unerring God gave the world in human form in the person of Jesus.

HAT a different world this would be if even those of us who profess to be Christians would follow in our daily lives that practical example which an unending
God gave the world in Jesus Christ in the person of Jesus.

BELIEVE that the true quality of character, conduct and influence of all people depends upon their Spiritual cooperation with God who is the very source of intelligence, wisdom, love, goodness and power.

QUIET, sincere and habitual prayer enriches the soul and prepares the individual to fill worthily his place in life and to serve best his fellow men.

HAVE personal convictions that many Spiritual possibilities as yet unrealized by the human family await a more complete cooperation of man with the indwelling God.

BEING a Quaker with Quaker parents I learned early in life to listen in silence to the "still small voice" of my Spiritual Father. During and since my forty-one years of very active service in college teaching and in scientific research in agriculture, the Christ Spirit within me has been the most precious thing in my life.

IMPLICIT obedience to the Divine impressions which emanate from the Spiritual communion of every human being with his God is the great need of the world to-day.

O the limits of our individual capacities, may we live in perfect accord with the Divine Christ within us.